A DATA BASE INTERNAL SCHEMA AND ACCESS PATH DETERMINATION

P.M. Stocker

Abstract

In future data base systems the mappings between user views and conceptual schema, and between conceptual schema and internal schema, will become increasingly complex. The talk will present one possible conceptual/internal mapping specification and will address the problems of access path determination for this internal schema. Distributed systems will be included in the discussion.